

FACTS YOU NEED TO KNOW ABOUT YOUR DENTAL INSURANCE

Dental insurance is a benefit which your employer has purchased for you. Your coverage which includes yearly maximums, deductibles, and allowable amounts for specific procedures has been negotiated by your employer and the insurance company. Insurance companies offer greater coverage for employers who pay higher premiums. Insurance companies often use the term “usual and customary charges” to limit the amount they cover for a specific procedure. These figures vary widely from one insurance plan to another and created internally by your insurance provider to produce the profit margin which their shareholders demand.

Any complaints you may have related to coverage provided by your dental plan should be addressed specifically to your employer. My staff and I work for our patients, and not your insurance company. We do not agree to any fee schedule created outside of this office. Finally, we believe that all of our patients are special, not “usual and customary.”
